

Message from the CEO

Over the past 30 years I have seen dramatic changes in our client's insurance needs. Risk appetites and service expectations are complex, and even though the industry has traditionally been slow to adapt to change, some embrace this with greater insight. Specialization is key to understanding how accounts can not rely on generalists but experts, in delivering success. The day of the traditional insurance company debating the validity of a claim is over. Instead, we must deliver precise results when offering to investigate and mitigate loss. This also speaks to prevention and implementing loss control strategies.

Clients demand value and only some companies can raise the bar and compete. Extant is such a company, as we invest in our team through education, training in new technology, and making innovative thinking a priority. We embrace solutions for trending change.

With our customers, it is a two-way street. We build relationship loyalty. We hit the mark on service needs. And we are dedicated and responsive, no matter what the magnitude of the issue. Extant's team is made up of individuals with diversified disciplines. Our leadership promises and delivers. Our recent graduates in law and business bring current and realistic world views. We invest and embrace critical thinkers, engineers of their own business destinies and those whose eyes are keen for spotting industry deficiencies and areas in need of improvement. Whether in the efficiency of speed, the depth of analysis, or the planning of calculated strategies, our people get it. And they get it right, the first time around. On behalf of our team, we welcome partnerships in business that share our same vision and drive for success. –Sandra J. Oglesby, CEO
