

My vision for my family's company is to remain dedicated to the philosophies set forth by three generations of insurance professionals. I promise to raise the bar for continued excellence in work product and service, and to keep pace with technology to achieve cutting edge results within the letter of the law. Across the board, our clients benefit from the best of two worlds: the breadth and depth of personnel and practice areas found at bigger claims support firms, plus the availability, personalized service, and loyalty that comes with a smaller company. I am Ian D. Oglesby, CFO of EXTANT and I am here to support our industry's needs in the defense, analysis and detection of losses, risks, security, and prevention.
